

THE LONG NIGHT OF MUSEUMS
17.05.2025

Your guide

The Long Night of Museums is a magical evening when, since 2004, Warsaw transforms into a cultural capital! On May 17, over 300 locations – from galleries to hidden archives – open their doors for free. Each year, around 300,000 locals and visitors take part, exploring museums, galleries, and usually inaccessible spaces at no cost. It's an event that brings the city to life from dusk until dawn, powered by the passion of volunteers, cultural workers, and guides. From small studios to grand museums – every venue holds a unique story.

Event details

Why not? Why stick to conventional approaches in both painting and food? Things that seemingly don't belong together, like fish and bananas, can build a common narrative on a different level – psychological and biographical. The meanings assigned to them by the artist Ewa Niemira may seem shocking and surprising at first, but there is method in this madness. One cannot only focus on the beautiful visual layer, although it tempts with a spectrum of colors. We invite the viewer to engage in dialogue with what is not obvious, subcutaneous, and deeply personal.

Event details

How does trauma affect our body and psyche? The artist's works visualize the bodily transformations we undergo during dissociation—a strong stress response characterized by a sense of detachment from reality. Lena Prokopczyk is a visual artist working in various techniques, primarily sculpture and painting. Her art focuses on feminism, addressing issues of violence and social inequalities. Milena Soporowska is a multidisciplinary artist, curator, art historian, and researcher. She runs the independent exhibition space Windowlicker.

Practical informations

Due to the sensitive topic of trauma, this exhibition is intended for adult audiences. Given the limited space, visitors are asked to be particularly mindful of the artwork. The pavilion is located in New Różycki Bazaar, behind the Praga Museum.

Imagine a world where the cosmos unexpectedly enters your daily life, and visitors from the stars do not bring answers, but difficult questions. Asking for help, they become mirrors revealing our deepest fears and the loss of self in the pursuit of others' acceptance. “Algorithm of Maturity“ is a story about discovering oneself and fighting inner demons. Building relationships. Maturity is not only about challenges and mistakes – it is an opportunity to understand oneself and find allies. What is the Algorithm of Maturity? Take the challenge and find out. Are you in?

Modern archaeological research allows us to view the Anthropocene not only as a present era but also as a record of future archaeology. Human activity—ranging from megacities to microplastic particles embedded in geological layers—creates a new type of artifact. As part of an inter-institutional collaboration, students from the Faculty of Design at the Academy of Fine Arts in Warsaw, under the guidance of curators Zofia Kwasieberska Keller and Antonina Konopelska, will present works engaging in dialogue with the Earth's fabric.

Event details

We invite you to another pop-up exhibition from the “Good Lines“ series at Lengrenówka. “Potato Face“ has trouble setting boundaries, talks too much when it’s not necessary, and stays silent when something should be said. He dislikes making mistakes, but keeps making them. He might seem like a failure, but when no one is watching, everything goes right. Additionally, he is very aware of all this and likes to turn every problem into a joke, just like his creator – Katarzyna Belczyk.

Event details

Jan Musiałowski "Natural Matters" from 8:00 pm to 9:00 pm – Exhibition tour by Jan Musiałowski. The exhibition features sculptures and sculptural installations by Jan Musiałowski. Natural Matters is a story about the physicality of contact with the medium and the organic rhythm of transformations inscribed in it. Musiałowski does not replicate states of reality but explores its fundamental tensions, rhythms, and processes. As a result, his works balance between construction and decay, strength and erosion. The exhibition features works made by the artist in a technique he developed himself.

Exhibition: The Prussian Homage, or the feudal tribute paid to King Sigismund I the Old by Albrecht Hohenzollern, Duke in Prussia, took place on April 10, 1525, in Kraków. It was preceded by the Kraków Treaty (document preserved at AGAD), which transformed the Teutonic Order's state into the secular Duchy of Prussia, a fiefdom of the Kingdom of Poland. As a result of the treaty, the last Grand Master of the Teutonic Order, Albrecht Hohenzollern, adopted Lutheranism and secularized the order's state, becoming its ruler under the Polish king.

The artistic practice of Natalia LL (1937–2022) encompassed photography, performance, video, and installation. Her works, including the 1970s piece “Consumer Art”, explored corporeality, identity, and the role of women, challenging gender stereotypes and critiquing consumerism. Less known are her drawings and paintings, which the artist considered her primary form of expression. The exhibition at Galeria Art Rytel will showcase both her works from the 1970s and 1980s as well as her early glass pieces from the 1960s, illustrating the evolution of her art and key themes. Event details

The “Vibrations and Afterimages“ by Rafał Siderski and Małgorzata Lebda is an inter-media exhibition with the Vistula, a living and important heroine of Polish cultural identity, at its centre. The river, as an entity of its own, exists autonomously from the human order and effortlessly escapes submitting to words or images. Rafał Siderski’s photographs, taken from the perspective of an attentive observer, are an attempt at a non-anthropocentric view, particularly relevant in these times of recurring climate crises.

This is the 12th edition of Museum Night in Ursynów! This year, we are bringing back an attraction that had been unavailable for several years – a tour of the wedding hall at the Ursynów Civil Registry Office. It's a unique opportunity to see where two people take their marriage vows. The Ursynów Mayor will also open his office for a visit. You will not only see where the most important decisions for the district are made but also have a chance to sit in the comfortable chair and experience the special atmosphere of the office. We encourage you to visit the office on this special May night!

The exhibition is an attempt to recreate the writer's study from his last residence at 50 Studencka Street, known as the little house. He moved there at the end of 1973 while finishing the second volume of La Fontaines Carafe. However, this study largely resembles the room from his previous Warsaw residence on Puławska Street (corner of Rakowiecka), which was set up in 1958 after the Wańkowicz family returned to Poland. Wańkowicz first used the term little house to refer to his pre-war home, which was destroyed during the 1944 uprising.

A presentation of works in their natural environment – in the space where they are created. During the visit, approximately 20 ceramic paintings will be displayed in a micro-gallery, which is also the artists studio. These paintings are unique works of art, created from precisely shaped, handmade elements. This unique technique goes far beyond the traditional concept of mosaics as merely decorative art, combining plastic poeticism with deep conceptual content. During the meeting, we will talk about the process of creating these works as well as the artists inspirations.

We invite you to a self-guided tour of the Warsaw Rising Museum. Less than three months before the 81st anniversary of the Warsaw Uprising, it is worth immersing yourself in the atmosphere of past years and experiencing the spirit of the uprising in Warsaw. Using modern presentation methods, the Museum brings the visitor closer to the historical source and exhibit – the multimedia exhibition uniquely engages through visuals, light, and sound. If weather conditions permit, visitors will also have the opportunity to enter the observation tower, which offers a panoramic view of the city.

Geometrically shaped trees, pink flowers, spherical shrubs, and stormy skies create familiar scenes deeply rooted in the artists memory. She draws inspiration from real garden compositions found on the internet, seeking to understand how we control our closest spaces and nature. Despite their landscape-like appearance, these works strongly emphasize human presence.

Event details

We invite you to the exhibition "How Did Teachers Live in the Second Polish Republic?" (awarded the Sybilla 2016 distinction). The tour will be led by exhibition curator Prof. Maria Ekiel-Jeżewska (IPPT PAN) and MZM staff, highlighting the connection between science, art, and technological development in education during the interwar period. The exhibition recreates a teacher's apartment from the late 1930s, with a veranda-style entrance and authentic interiors of two rooms, a kitchen, and a bathroom, offering an immersive experience of daily life in that era.

Practical informations

Tours are conducted in small groups. Unique exhibits illustrating the work and life of Polish teachers in the 1930s will be presented. Free admission. No registration required. Last entry at 7:00 pm.

Event details

The painting and drawing exhibition by Krakow-based artist Ziemowit Kmiec explores the duality of existence through contrasting elements: the rough cats tongue and the delicate fern leaf, symbolizing both coarseness and fragility. Inspired by biology and the mysticism of nature, the artist creates a narrative that encourages viewers to reflect on the ambivalence between the tangible and the enigmatic. The project focuses on the dialogue between opposites, emphasizing the unity found in contrast.
