Event details

Edna Bauds exhibition explores the collapse of the myth of immaterial technology. The artist also highlights the autonomy of machines, which can be perceived as independent life forms capable of reproduction and mutation. Baud develops a narrative on how technology shapes our identity and relationships with the world. She questions the boundaries between humans and machines and the future of our relationships with the inanimate. At 7:00 pm, a guided tour of the exhibition will be held with the participation of the artist, Edna Baud, and curators Ida Dziublewska and Gabi Skrzypczak.
